1. A building to house a radio station for the Rumanian telephone company was erected in October 1949 on a site located two kilometers southwest of the village of Afumati. It was constructed by a detachment of the General Directorate of the Labor Service (DGSM - Directiunea Generala a Serviciului Muncii). Approximately 14,000,000 lei (in old currency) was allotted to the project by the telephone company.
2. The radio station was completed in April 1950 and the area surrounding the station was made a restricted zone.  the cost was higher than originally estimated.
- 25X1 3.  equipment was installed at the station and electric power was supplied by overhead cables coming from Bucharest. A diesel electric generator was also installed to provide current in emergencies.
4. Attached are three self-explanatory sketches.
